Disclosure

Susan McDonald is paid an honorarium for teaching this course on supervision. She has no non-financial relationship.

Course Description

This workshop will concentrate on the application of effective supervision principles that will foster a successful experience for both supervisor and supervisee. Using Jean Anderson's UPOAI framework and the ASHA Self-Assessment of Competencies in Supervision, attendees will learn how to set up and maintain an effective and productive supervisory experience using a collaborative model, self-reflection, and focused communication strategies. Group discussion and case scenarios will be incorporated into this session.

Learning Outcomes

At the conclusion of this session participants will be able to:

- Describe the importance and value of self-reflection of the supervisor in the supervision process
- Identify the elements of Anderson's UPOAI framework for supervision
- Describe the value of a collaborative model for supervision with today's supervisees
- Identify 3 communication strategies that can be used to facilitate productive conversations with the supervisee
